6. Using your personal information

6.1 Data protection, privacy and security are important to us, and we shall only use your personal information for specified purposes and shall not keep such personal information longer than is necessary to fulfill these purposes. The following are examples of such purposes. We have also indicated below which justification applies. However, it will depend on the circumstances of each case. At the time of collecting, we will provide further information, and you may always ask for further information from us.

6.1.1 To help us to identify you when you contact us. This will normally be necessary for the performance of our contract.

6.1.2 To help us to identify accounts, services and/or products which you could have from us or selected partners from time to time we may do this by automatic means using a scoring system, which uses the personal information you've provided and/or any information we hold about you and personal information from third party agencies (including credit reference agencies). We will only use your information for this purpose if you agree to it.

6.1.3 To help us to administer and to contact you about improved administration of any accounts, services and products we have provided before, do provide now or will or may provide in the future. This will often be necessary, but sometimes the improvements will not be required, which case we will ask whether you agree.

6.1.4 To allow us to carry out marketing analysis and customer profiling (including with transactional information), conduct research, including creating statistical and testing information. This will sometimes require that you consent but will sometimes be exempt as market research.

6.1.5 To help to prevent and detect fraud or loss. This will only be done in certain circumstances when we consider it necessary or the law requires it.

6.1.6 To allow us to contact you by written electronic means (such as email, text or multimedia messages) about products and services offered by us where:

6.1.6.1 these products are similar to those you have already purchased from us,

6.1.6.2 you are given the opportunity to opt-out of being contacted by us at the time your personal information was originally collected by us and at the time of our subsequent communications with you, and

6.1.6.3 you have not opted out of us contacting you.

6.1.7 To allow us to contact you in any way (including mail, email, telephone, visit, text or multimedia messages) about products and services offered by us and selected partners where you have expressly consented to us doing so.

6.1.8 To keep you up to date with our member benefit scheme under which, as part of your membership benefits, we will give you membership information and details of discounts and offers we negotiate from time to time on behalf of our members. We will only do this if you have told us that you would like this benefit.

6.1.9 We may monitor and record communications with you (including phone conversations and emails) for quality assurance and compliance.

6.1.9.1 Before doing that, we will always tell you of our intentions and of the specific purpose in making the recording. Sometimes such recordings will be necessary to comply with the law. Alternatively, sometimes the recording will be necessary for our legitimate interest, but in that case, we'll only record the call if our interest outweighs yours. This will depend on all the circumstances, in particular, the importance of the information and whether we can obtain the information another way that's less intrusive.

6.1.9.2 If we think the recording would be useful for us but that it's not necessary, we'll ask whether you consent to the recording, and will provide an option for you to tell us that you consent. In those situations, if you don't consent, the call will either automatically end or will not be recorded.

6.1.10 When it's required by law, we'll check your details with fraud prevention agencies. If you provide false or inaccurate information and we suspect fraud, we intend to record this.

6.2 We will not disclose your personal information to any third party except under this Notice, and in particular in these circumstances:

6.2.1 They will be processing the data on our behalf as a data processor (where we'll be the data controller). In that situation, we'll always have a contract with the data processor as set out in the GDPR. This contract provides significant restrictions as to how the data processor operates so that you can be confident your data is protected to the same degree as provided in this Notice.

6.2.2 Sometimes, it might be necessary to share data with another data controller. Before doing that we'll always tell you. Note that if we receive information about you from a third party, then as soon as reasonably practicable afterwards we'll let you know; that's required by the GDPR.

6.2.3 Alternatively, sometimes we might consider it to be in your interest to send your information to a third party. If that's the case, we'll always ask whether you agree before sending.

6.3 Where you give us personal information on behalf of someone else, you confirm that you have provided them with the information set out in this Notice and that they have not objected to such use of their personal information.

6.4 In connection with any transaction which we enter into with you:

6.4.1 We may carry out one or more credit checks where you have given us your express consent.

6.4.2 We may carry out one or more fraud prevention checks with licensed fraud prevention agencies.

6.4.3 We and they may keep a record of the search. Information held about you by these agencies may be linked to records relating to other people living at the same address with whom you are financially linked. These records may also be taken into account in credit and fraud prevention checks. Information from your account's application and payment details will be recorded with one or more of these agencies. It may be shared with other organisations to help make credit and insurance decisions about your household members with whom you are financially linked and for debt collection and fraud prevention. This includes those who have moved house and who have missed payments.

6.4.4 If you provide false or inaccurate information to us and we suspect fraud, we will record this and may share it with other people and organisations. We, and other credit and insurance organisations, may also use technology to detect and prevent fraud.

6.4.5 If you need details of those credit agencies and fraud prevention agencies from which we obtain and with which we record information about you, please write to our Data Protection Officer as detailed in clause 1.3.

6.4.6 We may need to transmit the payment and delivery information provided by you during the order process to obtain authorisation from your bank or from PayPal.

6.5 We may allow other people and organisations to use personal information we hold about you in the following circumstances:

6.5.1 If we, or substantially all of our assets, are acquired or are in the process of being acquired by a third party, in which case personal information held by us about our customers, will be one of the transferred assets.

6.5.2 If we have been legitimately asked to provide information for legal or regulatory purposes or as part of legal proceedings or prospective legal proceedings.

6.5.3 We may employ companies and individuals to perform functions on our behalf and we may disclose your personal information to these parties for the purposes set out above, for example, for fulfilling orders, delivering packages, sending postal mail and email, removing repetitive information from customer lists, analysing data, providing marketing assistance, providing search results and links (including paid listings and links), processing credit and debit card payments and providing customer service. Strict contractual provisions will bind those parties with us and will only have access to personal information needed to perform their functions, and they may not use it for any other purpose. Further, they must process the personal information under this Notice and as permitted by the GDPR. From time to time, these other people and organisations to whom we may pass your personal information may be outside the European Economic Area. We will take all steps reasonably necessary to ensure that your personal information is treated securely and per this Notice and the GDPR.

9. Cookies and other internet tracking technology

9.1 When we provide services, we want to make them easy, useful and reliable. This sometimes involves placing small amounts of information on your computer, which is sent back to us at a later time. These are called 'cookies'. These cookies are listed in the table in clause 9.5. Some websites don't use cookies but use related technology for gaining information about website users, such as JavaScript, web beacons (also known as action tags or single-pixel gifs), and other technologies to measure the effectiveness of their ads and to personalise advertising content. Multiple cookies may be found in a single file, depending on which browser you use.

9.2 Where applicable, this section of the Notice also relates to that technology, but the term 'cookie' is used throughout.

9.3 Some of these cookies are essential to the services you've requested from us, whereas others are used to improve services for you, for example through:

9.3.1 Letting you navigate between pages efficiently;

9.3.2 Enabling a service to recognise your computer, so you don't have to give the same information during one task;

9.3.3 Recognising that you have already given a username and password, so you don't need to enter it for every web page requested;

9.3.4 Measuring how many people are using services, so they can be made easier to use and that there is enough capacity to ensure they are fast.

9.4 To learn more about cookies, you may wish to visit: www.allaboutcookies.org, www.youronlinechoices.eu or www.google.com/policies/technologies/cookies/

9.5 Categories 1-4 explained below. Category 1 cookies don't require the user's consent, though you must still tell them about the cookies. Categories 2-4 do require their specific and informed consent.

Category 1	Strictly necessary	These cookies are essential to enable you to move around the website and use its features, such as accessing secure areas of the website. Without these cookies, some services you have asked may not be provided.
-------------------	---------------------------	--

We include in this category cookies that are used only for electronic communication.

Note that cookies for which another person is the controller will never be necessary for a service requested of you. On the other hand, if you've asked another person to send a cookie on your behalf for an essential feature of your website, that would be category 1.

For instance, a website may provide you with local weather reports or traffic news by storing in a cookie the region in which you are currently located. These cookies can also be used to remember changes you have made to text size, fonts and other parts of web pages that you can customise. They may also be used to provide services you have asked for, such as a live chat session.

Category 4	Targeting and advertising	These cookies are used to deliver adverts more relevant to you and your interests. They are also used to limit the number of times you see an advertisement and help measure the effectiveness of the advertising campaign. They are usually placed by advertising networks with the website operator's permission. They remember that you have visited a website, and this information is shared with other organisations such as advertisers. Quite often, targeting or advertising cookies will be linked to site functionality provided by the other organisation.
